Reliable, modular, lightweight, piston-powered, the X11 is everything you ever wanted in a next-generation modern sporting rifle. Developed from the ground up over a course of 5 years, the X11's primary goal was to bring the greatest technological advancements in modern engineering. Crafted in the U.S.A, the X11 presents many innovative features including advanced ergonomics, reliable piston operation, folding stock, and ambidextrous controls. Superior accuracy and extreme reliability were the core essential goals set forth in the development process of the X11 weapons system, which in turn led to multiple Patents Pending.
